

Sir W. Teeling Yes, if I thought that it had been properly worked out by the Chief Justice of the country when he is such a very good man.

Let us turn from that to the possible future of the country. We now have Mr. Forbes Burnham, a very effective Prime Minister, as everyone will agree who has met him. He has a first-class brain and is very ambitious for his country. One must feel that there is at long last a chance of Indians and Africans coming together. The Indians are very shrewd business men, and they see the possibility of happening at long last what they knew could not happen when Dr. Jagan was in control—the possibility of peace and quiet and making money.
